Tuesday, November 12, 2013 – 7:00 p.m. - Social Science Building, Room 1021
Faculty, staff, students and the public are all welcome to attend!

Guest Speaker: Dr. Jonathan B. Imber — “ON TEACHING CONSERVATISM”

Dr. Imber is the Jean Glasscock Professor of Sociology at Wellesley College. He is the editor-in-chief of Society, a scientific journal publishing social science and public policy research, and author of “Trusting Doctors: The Decline of Moral Authority in American Medicine.” Imber’s research focuses on religious bioethics, represented in all major faith traditions, as well as the role that religious authority has played in defining the medical vocation.

GREAT DEBATE I: “OBAMACARE – YES OR NO?”

The Federal statute commonly referred to as “Obamacare,” signed into law by President Barack Obama on March 23, 2010, is officially titled the “Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act.” This massive regulatory legislation will be the subject of Kennesaw State’s inaugural “Great Debate” — kicking off a series of events aimed at fulfilling the university’s role as a “center for civil debate, civil discourse, and civil discussion about vital issues.”

RED MEETS BLUE

Moderated by Dr. Robin Dorff, Dean of the College of Humanities and Social Sciences

Dr. Melvyn Fein
Professor of Sociology
Kennesaw State University

Dr. Fein is a certified clinical sociologist who spent more than 20 years in clinical practice. He is the author of 14 books, including “The Great Middle Class Revolution” and “Peoplization: An Introduction to Social Life,” and currently concentrates on the study of sociological theory and the sociology of morality.

Dr. Kenneth M. White
Assistant Professor,
Political Science and Criminal Justice
Kennesaw State University

Dr. White holds a Ph.D and J.D. and practiced criminal defense and constitutional law in California. His current research interests and publications range in topics from the media and popular culture to political participation, civil rights, the presidency, and legal theory and political philosophy.
